City-County Will Sponsor New Hospital

BUILDING IS APPROVED BY COMMISSIONS

Joint Meeting Is Held Thursday of City and County

WILL COST $50,000.00

Bond Issue To Be Summitted to Voters Soon

The city of Canyon and the county of Randall will seek to build a hospital to cost approximately $50,000 as the result of a conference Thursday morning between the city and county officials.

It is likely that bond elections will be called for both the city and county within the coming month.

Senator R. A. Stuart, representing PWA, was here Tuesday, and stated that the government would make a gift of 45% if the city and county would vote bonds for the 55%.

More than a year ago all legal papers were drawn for an application from the city. Harvey Cash, city clerk, has written PWA asking if these papers can still be used in making the new application for the loan. If the government will accept these papers, much time and expense will be saved in presenting the application for the loan.

A mass meeting of citizens was held last week with the city and county officials when the hospital idea was unanimously approved.

Dr. J. A. Hill states that the College will be able to contribute approximately $2,000 toward the hospital for the use of the students. The Board of Regents instructed him several weeks ago to provide for hospital facilities, since this is among the few colleges of the state which does not have these facilities.

The county has been sending several hundred dollars to Amarillo hospitals every year for charity cases, all of which could go toward the upkeep of the local institution.

It was figured Thursday that a tax rate of not more than 3 cents would be necessary to pay for the hospital. In other words, the family with a $2,500 home would pay 75 cents per year to pay for the hospital.

Rotary Club Gets Started Upon New Year Tuesday Lunch

The new year for the Rotary Club started Tuesday at the luncheon held at the Presbyterian Church.

In the absence of President Irby Carruth, Vice President Harry Brown will preside during the summer.

Mayor C. R. Burrow presented the problem of sewer disposal for the city, and explained the various methods which are confronting the commission. Advice of citizens is being sought as to the best method.

The Past President button was presented to Bob Jarrett, who retired after serving the past year as head of the club.

"Getting Under Way" was the subject chosen by Harry Brown in discussing various phases of Rotary, and setting forth the program for the year which has been adopted by the directors.

W. A. Warren, chairman of the Program Committee, announced the programs for the coming month, and outlined the plan which had been adopted for the future.

Visitors present Tuesday were: R. E. Wertz, W. W. Rusk, Dr. R. Thomsen, W. W. Cunningham, J. M. Obrien, all of Amarillo; Rev. Fred Dawson of Canadian; Rev. J. R. Sharp and C. R. Burrow, of Canyon.

Wheat Seed Loans Available to Farmers

Same Plan Adopted As Used in Row Crop Loans

The government is now making seed wheat loans to farmers for fall planting. The same forms are used in making application as were used for the row crop seed loans. Mortgages are taken on the 1936 wheat crop.

Mrs. James Coles is taking the applications at the court house, and farmers may receive information on these loans.

Many Citizens to Hold Picnics at Palo Duro Park

The largest crowd of the year is expected at the Palo Duro State Park, Thursday, for the Fourth of July. While many celebrations are being held over the Panhandle for the Fourth, the Palo Duro will draw many who are seeking a quiet place for family picnics. Many bathing pools along the crew drew large crowds Sunday.

There were 392 cars in the Park during the past week, with the largest number on Sunday, 247. During the week 152 cars came from Amarillo; 18 from Canyon; Dallas 8; Lubbock 8; Plainview 14; Panhandle 7; White Deer 5; Borger 10; Wichita Falls 4; Pampa 17; Conway 8; Hereford 5; Tulia 5; Happy 4; Wellington 4; Muleshoe, Post, Alanreed, 3 each; Waco, Wheeler, Amherst, Littlefield, Bryan, Shamrock, Friona, Ft. Worth, Hartley, Vega, McLean, Snyder, Dalhart, Stinnett, Spearman, 2 each.

Twenty-one states were represented among the cars coming from outside of Texas: New Mexico, Michigan, Kansas, Oklahoma, Illinois, Iowa, Colorado, California, Indiana, South Dakota, Michigan, Utah, Florida, Nevada, Georgia, Washington, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina.

Wheat Conference Started Monday in Capitol–Gist Tehere

R. B. Gist is in Washington this week representing the wheat growers of Texas in a conference which will write the future wheat program under AAA. Mr. Gist was selected by George E. Farrell to represent Texas. He is chairman of the Randall County Wheat Allotment Committee, and the efficiency of this committee was recognized in the selection of Mr. Gist to represent the wheat growers of the state.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace addressed the gathering when the conference opened Monday.

Former Eagle Mentor Named Wayland College Coach Saturday

Moisture For Year Amounts 6.13 Inches —June Brings 1.64

Rain amounting to .50 of an inch fell in Canyon Tuesday as the first offering for July. A very heavy rain fell southeast of Canyon, amounting to 3 and 4 inches in spots.

Moisture in Canyon for 1935 is far below normal, and even less than the first six months of 1934 when a new low for the year was set.

The total moisture for the first six months of 1934 was 6.53 inches, while the moisture over the same period this year has amounted to 6.13 inches.

Rain fell Thursday which added .60 of an inch, and brought the total up to 1.64 inches for the month of June.

The following has been the record for 1935:

January	.61
February	.45
March	1.28
April	.05
May	2.12
June	1.64

Another delay has been experienced in receiving seed on the soil erosion program. The seed was scheduled to be offered free to the farmers two weeks ago, but for some reason has not yet been received.

H. H. Finnell, director of the soil erosion program, states that the seed will be shipped in the near future.

New Set Up Planned To Care For Public Works

RELIEF ABOLISHED

City, County, and Schools Will Ask For New Projects

Application blanks under the Works Progress Administration were received Monday by County Administrator H. S. Strain, and will be filled out immediately for projects which are desirable for Randall county.

While complete information is lacking as to the complete set up for administration, it has been definitely determined that only counties, cities and school districts may make application for projects.

A new organization for Texas, with headquarters at San Antonio, will handle WPA projects.

What is to become of the present relief administration has not been determined. The entire organization may be taken over, or it may be disbanded, according to the latest reports.

One thing is sure and certain—relief will be entirely disbanded, except for those who are unable to work, and it is indicated that the counties must assume the relief load as rapidly as possible.

A meeting of the Randall County Relief Committee was held Monday night with a district representative at which time future plans were discussed. Local units have been advised to complete their projects immediately, and to hold themselves in readiness for the new organization. The new state director is now in New Orleans where complete plans are being made to handle the situation.

Rural rehabilitation was completely removed from the county relief administration Saturday. A new set up is being provided, with new offices to take over this phase of work. For the present the administration is coming from Amarillo, and it is likely that a

A vast amount of evidence was presented as to the rate structure of the company.

Gate, Horses and Eats Let For Year at Palo Duro

All concessions at the Palo Duro State Park are now under operations for the summer.

Fred Marshall will have his string of saddle horses ready for use upon a few minute's notice. He held the first concession on horses at the Park, and has a splendid number of horses trained for travel up and down the trails of the canyon walls. "There is no other way to see the beauties of the Palo Duro," say those who have made the rides on the 30 miles of trails now in operation in the park.

O. L. Speer of Amarillo and Tulia has the general concessions for the Park. He will maintain cold drinks at the entrance, operate the store when this building is completed at Cow Camp, and is opening a light lunch room at El Coronado Lodge. This will be open for the Fourth of July. In addition he will be prepared to serve special dinners and barbecues upon short notice. Mr. Speer is in charge of the four cabins which are now ready for use. In addition the Park has eight tents, together with adequate cots.

J. H. Rose is retained as gatekeeper, and has charge of gasoline and oil, which is kept for the convenience of the visitors.

No statement has been issued by the company, but the new stock was accepted by the committee which has been working with the company for an adjustment.

Spreading asphalt and gravel on the Goodnight Trail started Monday. The contractor stated that it will take about 10 days to complete the topping from Canyon to the Palo Duro State Park.

PWA GETS PLAN FOR BUILDING ON WT CAMPUS

Stuart Completed Application For W. T. Tuesday

NEAR PIONEER HALL

Quick Action Is Expected On Sixth PWA Project

Application was filed yesterday with PWA for the construction of a $200,000 library building on the campus of W. T.

Senator R. A. Stuart of Fort Worth was here Tuesday representing the State Board of Regents to complete the papers for the application. Senator Stuart was formerly an attorney for PWA before accepting a place on the Board of Regents, and is thoroughly familiar with the forms which are necessary in making application.

M. O. Carder, architect, was in the PWA offices in Fort Worth Wednesday with the plans for the building, and will present these plans when Senator Stuart files the application for the building.

Much of the PWA detail has been moved from Washington to the Fort Worth office in order that contracts may be closed with more speed. It is believed that the Fort Worth office will clear all applications without delay.

As an ex-student of W. T. Senator Stuart is personally interested in the library project, and will give his personal attention to the project.

The building will be located north of Pioneer Hall, museum for the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, and will be connected with this building.

This is the sixth PWA project which has been submitted by W. T. Work is in progress on the dormitory for men; four others have been approved, but are not yet ready for letting contracts. Word from Washington indicates that the President is anxious to have all PWA jobs in progress at once in order to abolish all relief rolls.

J. W. McDaniels left Saturday for Phoenix, Ariz., for a short visit with relatives. He will return this week-end.

THE BIG STICK TAKES ON A CUTTING EDGE

Enjoy July 4th But Beware Result of Accidents

It would be a glorious Fourth of July if no accidents occurred to mar the joy of celebrating our one hundred and fifty-ninth anniversary of independence. It is most unfortunate that a day of joy and celebration leaves in its wake one of sadness and sorrow in many homes.

It is not alone the wounds received from explosives that increase our death toll. Injuries from automobile accidents, splinters, nails, and other penetrating wounds in which dirt may be carried into the skin, heighten the hazard of tetanus, or lockjaw as the disease is commonly called.

Tetanus is fatal in a large proportion of cases. Fortunately we have tetanus antitoxin as a means of preventing the disease. Antitoxin must be administered promptly following the accident. Treatment after the disease develops is rarely successful. Preventative measures include: the avoidance of such wounds and proper medical care.

A few dont's for the 4th of July celebration would not be amiss.

1. Don't be careless in the handling of explosives.
2. Don't look into fire crackers which have failed to explode.
3. Don't drive recklessly and at excess speeds.
4. Don't overdo in swimming, especially in water of unknown depth.
5. Don't fail to get prompt medical attention if a wound is suffered.

Discussion of the constitutional amendments to be voted upon in August has so far been limited almost wholly to two—the repeal of state wide prohibition, and the old age pension. The way these two go will largely determine the way of the other amendments. Voters have the habit of either approving or disapproving all constitutional amendments presented on the election ballots. The readers will hear a lot about the prohibition question between now and August 24th. It seems a little strange, however, that there is probably more discussion on the old age pension right now than on the liquor question. The News has been a little surprised to hear and read the opposition which has developed to the pension. As worded in the amendment, the pension applies to every citizen regardless of their state of finances. This means that 232,459 pensions will be granted in Texas at $15 per month, or more than 40 million dollars per year. If the amendment was worded to apply only to those in actual need, it would be more cheerfully accepted by the voters. Regardless of what you may see or hear, this will increase the tax rate practically 50%, which will have to be paid through new taxes. Those who favor the return of the open saloon will probably argue during the campaign, that the tax on liquor will take care of the pension tax. In other words, the state will be asked to legalize liquor so that it may legally damn men's souls and pay the state's obligation to those who have reached the age of 65 years.

The News believes that the people of Randall county should vote in favor of building a hospital in Canyon. In the first place, the government offers to give 45% of the cost of the building; in the second place, there will be a steady, regular income for the hospital from the students of W. T. who will be served by the hospital; in the third place, Randall county has been sending hundreds of dollars to Amarillo every year for the care of unfortunate people who needed hospital treatment. Several counties about the size of Randall have found that their hospitals break even after three or four years. A hospital in Canyon would have a distinct advantage, with a set maintenance fee to begin with. No hospital is expected to make a return on the investment, but the proposed one for Canyon would be in a position to break even, considering the fact that low interest bearing bonds will be accepted for the 55% which must be put up locally.

Soaking the rich is one of the programs of Congress, with the backing of the President. However, there are many limitations to this soaking game. It so happens that most of the really rich were foresighted enough to place their money in tax exempted bonds. The government cannot reach this sort of securities at the present time, since the government made it lawful to issue such bonds. However, at the present time there is a movement to abolish tax free bonds. It is nothing more than right that the government should tax money invested in bonds, the same that it taxes real estate and personal property. Repealing the law which allows the issuance of tax free securities is a step in the right direction.

Some farmers insist on turning their stock out on the highways. This is against the stock law passed by the last session of the legislature. In addition to this, the highway department has spent hundreds of dollars in each county planting trees to beautify the right-of-way. Cattle have ruined many of these trees. The trees are now sprayed by poinson to keep down the insects, which creates a danger to the cattle. In addition, stock has been responsible for hundreds of car accidents on the highways. Every logical reason favors keeping stock off the highways, which, state officials will be accepted by the owners of stock.

Pity the poor candidate next year. He will be confronted by such a mixture of Democrats that he will have a hard time balancing the load. We now have the Young Democrats; the Old Democrats; the Middle Aged Democrats; the Constitutional Democrats; the anti-Constitutional Democrats; the Townsend Democrats; the Huey Democrats; the Wet Democrats; the Dry Democrats; the Roosevelt Democrats; the anti-Roosevelt Democrats. If you can think of any more breeds, just chalk up the list.

The International Chamber of Commerce finds that business conditions the world over have not improved during the past two years due to the foolish attitude of nations attempting to save their own condition at the expense of the other nations. The News was pronounced exceedingly foolish a dozen years ago in proposing that all war debts between nations be cancelled, and that we start out with a view of more peaceful and equitable dealings one with the other. Wonder if we were not about right then?

The Wagoner labor bill will put organized labor in the saddle, and will force the terms of NRA without this law being effective. The tragedy of the bill is that it is entirely one-sided, giving organized labor the whip handle over industry. Organized labor comprizes a small percent of all labor, and the organizations are not always fair with capital or with the public. This bill will be tested in the courts before being accepted by industry.

Governor Allred has appointed Robert Lee Bobbitt on the Court of Civil Appeals at San Antonio. It is queer how politics changes in the course of a few years. Bobbitt was appointed Attorney General by Governor Dan Moody. Allred defeated Bobbitt for his first term in a bitter campaign. Bobbitt charging a combination of Ferguson and Allred. Bobbitt then supported Allred for Governor. Not all men fall out permanently over the strife of a political campaign.

McLean News: Rejection of life insurance risks because of drinking has increased 149% since pre-repeal days, in those under the age of 30, according to experience records of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. For all ages the record shows an increase of 25%. These rejections are only those who indulge heavily and do not show the increase in moderate drinkers. Where are the promises of the wets that easy access to liquor would decrease drunkenness?

President Roosevelt has decided to continue the assistance of students in their college work, and to help young folks who are without labor to get jobs. FERA was one of the finest things ever attempted to assist young people through college. It will be a good thing as a governmental policy in the future to assist worthy young people secure an education, who would otherwise be defeated of this opportunity.

Dallas is trying an experiment in traffic control. One hundred citizens, unknown to each other and operating under the direction of one man, make reports of traffic violations. The driver is notified of these violations, and requested not to repeat the offense. The 100 "T Men," as they are called, are without authority, but are appointed simply to notify citizens to drive more carefully and not break the city's ordinance.

The Republicans are wondering what they are going to do with Hoover. As nominal head of the party he could secure the presidential nomination if he wishes it. Republican senators are determined that Hoover shall give a definite answer in the near future. Hoover will be forced to eliminate himself in the near future, or assume the active leadership of his party.

June closed with an average of pleasant days far above the average for past Junes. June usually dishes out about the most unpleasant weather of the entire summer. Only one June day could really be classed as unpleasant this year, with two others bordering on the hot and dusty class.

Pre-Fabricated Houses, Shipped Direct From Factory, Make Auspicious Debut

The dwelling pictured above may be a typical home of the future, if pre-fabricated houses meet with general public approval, and whole houses may some day be moved from city to city in great vans like that shown below.

THE pre-fabricated house—long a dream in industrial circles—has at last made its bow to the American public. In the east, a number of these ultra-modern dwellings are on exhibition.

Within five years, it has been predicted, a prospective home owner will be able to look over miniature models, choose and order the one he wants, and have his house delivered and set up for him, at a startlingly low price.

In the near future, great factories may be turning out the standardized parts for these houses in large quantities. Each house would be so light and compact that it could be loaded on one big van, carried to its destination and installed, all within a couple of weeks.

The pre-fabricated house may revolutionize the housing industry as the automobile did transportation; it all depends on how the average purchaser reacts to the new type of houses.

One hurdle pre-fabricated houses face is that of appearance. While they offer a variety of design, they are essentially machine-made, and may lack the individual touch sought by the average homemaker.

On the other hand, mass production permits them to be sold cheaply. And there are other advantages, revealed in the following description of one of the experimental houses on display in New York, one which might very well approximate the Home of the Future.

THIS particular dwelling resembles an ordinary stucco bungalow. Inner and outer walls are panels of composition asbestos-cement, with insulation between.

Its flat roof may be used as a sun deck by day. At night, since it is fireproof, comfortable bon fires might even be lit on it.

The house has no cellar. It is to be built on a continuous concrete foundation extending below the frost line, with a three-foot air space between ground and floor.

The inside suggests a suite of modern apartment house rooms. Interiors are fitted with washable fabric covering; closets are cedar lined. Floors are of compressed hardwood panels. A crank operates windows of the steel casement type.

ONE of the unusual features of this five-room house is a so-called domestic "moto-unit." Resembling four or five kitchen cabinets stuck together, its gleaming front projects into the kitchen, where it presents to the housekeeper a built-in sink, dishwasher level with sink, laundry tub, electric refrigerator and gas (or electric) range. Above is built-in closet space, indirect lighting, and electric clock.

On the back of the moto-unit is the heavier machinery—water heater, furnace, and an air conditioner that receives the air from outside, washes it, and distributes it, heated or cooled, throughout the house.

There is an exhaust to draw off from the kitchen poisonous cooking vapors. A bathtub, shower, and small lavatory extend from the unit into a bathroom adjoining the kitchen.

The house itself is of steel and aluminum. With a monkey wrench and screw driver, it can be "buttoned up" or "unbuttoned." New parts or additional rooms are simply ordered from the factory, and can be adjusted in double-quick time.

The whole house can be taken apart, transported to some other location, and put together at a slight cost.

It is too early yet to gauge the public response to these "take apart" houses, but if they do become popular, the appearance of the average American town is evidently due for a transformation.

If Their Splendid Showing Thus Far Is Any Gauge, the New York Giants and Yanks Should Dominate the World Series Stage Next Fall

BY PHILIP MARTIN

IF the superior brand of baseball displayed by the Giants and Yankees over the first half of the scheduled route can be taken as a criterion of their second-half performance, the odds are preponderantly in favor of an all-Gotham world series in October.

The Ruthless Yanks, after a slow start, forged their way to the front as soon as Lou Gehrig began to familiarize himself with the offerings of opposition hurlers. Earl Combs, relegated to baseball's boneyard because of a serious injury in 1934, seems to have taken a lusty swig of the Fountain of Youth, judging from his yeoman service in the cause of Ruppert. Another individual who apparently has shaken off the cobwebs is that aged Italian, Tony Lazzeri.

Of the hurlers, Vito Tamulis, the Lithuanian flinger, has proved himself most valuable to Marse Joe McCarthy—but in distributing orchids we mustn't pass up Johnny Allen, whose miserable work last season earned him one of those $1-a-year contracts for the current campaign. Charlie Ruffing and Johnny Broaca also have done right well on the hill.

The Broadway Bombers' lineup seems to have struck just the right proportion of youth and experience, and this outfit will be hard to beat down the stretch.

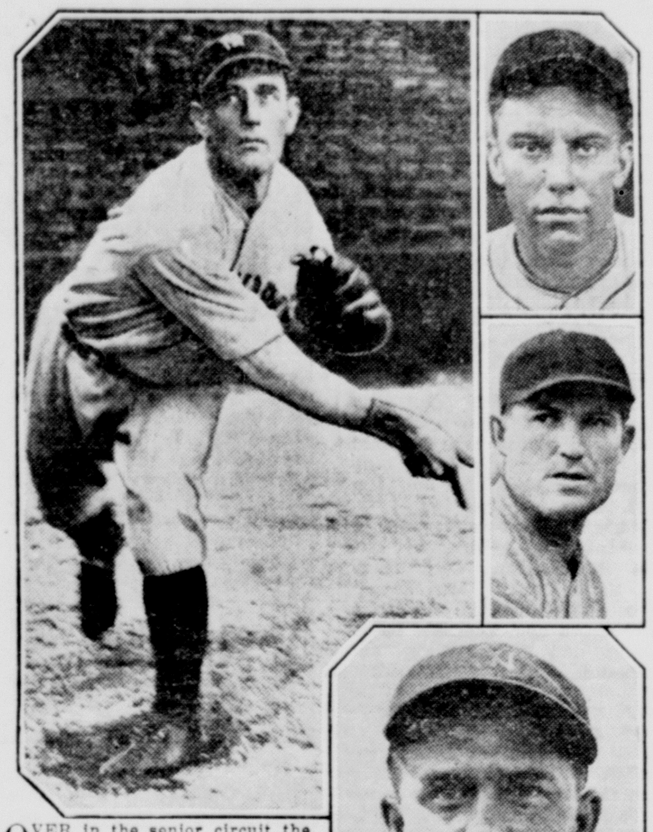
WE'LL take Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit, in the order named, to make up the rest of the first division. The Indians may be classified as a potential winner, but with so much internal dissension ruffling the team, they hardly are a good flag bet. The same is true in a somewhat lesser degree of the Tigers, although the Bengals' problem is complicated by a lack of reserve strength. As for the White Sox—well, they have tossed a bombshell into the pre-season predictions of nearly all the scribes.



OVER in the senior circuit the Giants appear to be tops. Defensively, this outfit works with the smoothness of a well-oiled machine, while the big punch at the plate is supplied by Bill Terry, Mel Ott, and Joe Moore. The largest item in favor of the Terrymen is their mound staff, composed of such stellar hurlers as Hal Schumacher, Bud Parmelee, Carl Hubbell, and the startling rookie, Clydell Castleman. Mark Koenig remains a pillar of strength in the infield.

St. Louis, Pittsburgh and Chicago then will follow in that order, to our way of thinking. The Cardinals' fate, of course, rests with the eccentric Dean boys. A strong batting attack, along with the wins turned in by that great young pitcher, Cy Blanton, should earn the Pirates the show position.

Stafford Hall Chosen Name Of Dormitory

Memorial to Life of Former W. T. Faculty Member

"Stafford Hall" is the name of the new $47,000 dormitory for men.

The new dormitory will carry the name of one of the original members of the college faculty, Prof. B. A. Stafford, who taught in W. T. for 15 years, coming here in 1910. Prof. Stafford was at the head of the Latin department during this time and was for a time vice president of the faculty. He retired from teaching in 1926, and died in 1930 after an extended illness.

Was Southern Gentleman

The hall will bear the name Stafford Hall, said Pres. J. A. Hill, because people knew Mr. Stafford as a preeminent scholar and southern gentleman and because of his relationship to the institution.

Mrs. Stafford presented the library with a collection of books after Mr. Stafford's death in 1930. This collection, named after the professor, contains 435 volumes.

On the top of the Stafford Collection book case are two of Mr. Stafford's mottos.

They are:

The Genius of The Teacher

"I want to help you grow as God meant you to be when He thought of you first."

"After all there are only three things really worth while—to be good—to do good—and always to smile."

As 'Tiger Woman' Went Free

Joyful at being free once more, Clara Phillips is pictured leaving prison at Tehachapi, Calif., after the hammer slayer of Alberta Meadows had served 12 years of the 30-year term to which she was sentenced in 1922. Once a notorious "tiger woman," Mrs. Phillips today bears a mild, middle-aged appearance.

Before you pass around any criticisms of Canyon, it is appropriate to examine your home place, and make sure its appearance does not warrant any unfavorable comment.

The Fullest Benefits From Electric Service Depend on You

Emerging from a period filled with numerous difficulties an inventory shows that we have been able to "carry on" in our operation of these properties. We also find that the morale of our organization has, under severe stress and in many cases unwarranted attacks, been able to maintain the vigorous strength that has always characterized it.

We are justly proud of the record for voluntary compliance and support of those agencies which were felt to be necessary during the trying months of uncertainty. . . . It is our avowed intention, as representing a part of the cross section of business in this section, to continue those policies that are truly American and in support of those principles upon which this country was founded.

Did you ever stop to realize how important you are? Have you ever considered the fact that the largest benefit from the use of electric service is the increased use of it? Convince yourself that the mere flick of a switch puts at your immediate disposal a supply of dependable energy that means more convenience, more comfort, and more happiness. This depends on you.

This company has the responsibility for furnishing electric service at rates which are reasonable. As consumer needs for added service justified, rate reductions have always been made. One of the most advantageous steps in this direction was made very recently by this company. The introduction of an "ultimate" rate for residential service is of very direct benefit to you in that at no increase in cost a much larger use of electric service is possible. This depends on you.

During this week we commemorate the 159th year of independence in this country. We find ourselves thinking and saying how hard life must have been in 1776. But some day your grandchild will say: "How hard life must have been in 1935 without the full use of electric service then available!" Pass on to heritage that you were independent of so many tasks by the ease with which electric service could be applied.

Romantic Rumors Link Their Names

Denial by Aimee Semple McPherson, above, noted evangelist, that she is contemplating marriage failed to dispel rumors that Homer Rodeheaver, below, former singing master for Billy Sunday and widely known singer and lecturer, will be her fourth husband. Mrs. McPherson recently returned to Los Angeles from a world tour.

Bowman Returns From Panama

To Teach Home Economics During Summer Session

Miss Fern Bowman returned Tuesday from the Panama Canal Zone to teach in the home economics department of the College during July and August. She taught in this depatment of W. T. in the summer of 1932.

Miss Bowman graduated from W. T. in 1928. She did all of her undergraduate work here majoring in home economics. After graduating she entered the University of Chicago where she received her M. A. degree in home economics.

Miss Bowman then taught foods and nutrition for four years in the Syracuse University in New York. From there she went to Cristoba, Panama, where she taught household arts and had the management of the school cafeteria in the Cristoba High School, a government school. Miss Bowman will return there to resume her position this fall.

W. T. Team Wins Softball Tilt at Play Night Friday

An all-star team picked from W. T.'s six intramural soft ball teams defeated Oakes Agency, a fast team from Amarillo, 11 to 9 in the main attraction of play night last Friday.

The batteries for the Amarillo squad were Curry and Bivins; Wilhite and Hanson pitched for the W. T. team.

Wilhite hit a home run with two mates on board, and Kimmins, W. T. outfielder, also hit for the circuit with one man on base. Bufkin, fielder on the Amarillo team, hit a home run in the first half of the seventh inning with two men on bases.

The score at the opening of the seventh inning was 11 to 4. The Amarillo boys gathered five runs in this inning, but were forced to leave town before overcoming the Canyon team's lead.

Croquet, horse shoe pitching, ping pong, and other games furnished amusement for the 200 people who attended. Both students and townspeople are invited to attend play nights, and out of town people are urged to attend and inspect the new athletic plant.

The local club invites more stiff competition from Amarillo, any Amarillo team which would like a game any Friday night except July 5, write Red Holston or Bob Cox, Box 277, or call 88 at Canyon.

Dowlens May Fly Old Flag On July 4th

A 60-year-old flag with only 44 stars on it may be flown from the C. M. Dowlen home, 2119 Fourth Avenue on the Fourth of July.

The flag is made of all wool bunting and is 42 inches wide and 91 inches long. Though the white stripes of the flag have turned a bit yellow, old age has caused only a few worn places in the flag.

The last state to be represented by a star is Wyoming. Utah, Oklahoma and New Mexico have been admitted to the union since the flag was made.

Mrs. Dowlen's mother, Mrs. Gertrude Wade, said that her father bought the flag when she was a small child. "I would guess that it is about 60 years old," she said.

Mrs. Wade said that the flag was flown from the top of her father's barn in Illinois every holiday, flag day and decoration day.

"The wind in Illinois was not as bad as it is in Texas," Mrs. Wade remarked.

In the monkey house at the zoo it is interesting to note the remarks made by the curious people looking into the cages, but fortunately no method has yet been devised to register the thoughts of the monkeys peering out from the other side of the bars.

Dr. No Yong Park To Speak Again

Chinese Lecturer Will Conduct 3-Day Lyceum

Oriental opinion concerning the Chinese-Japanese situations will be presented in the next lyceum series, a course of three lectures to be given this summer by Dr. No Yong Park. A definite date for the series has not yet been set.

Dr. Park, who feels that the Chinese situation is not generally understood by the Oxidental world, will endeavor, through the course of three evening lectures and group conferences during the days, to give a clear explanation of the present Oriental situation. He says that it means much to the Chinese that the American people understand them.

Dr. Park, a Harvard Ph. D., addressed the W. T. S. T. C. students last winter during assembly hour. A clever speaker, he handles American slang with a Chinese slant that is delightful.

Texas Under Seven Flags, Finds Mrs. Atkinson in Writings

"Among the flags that waved over Texas have never been mentioned the standard of the sun and the blood-red banner of the Comancheria," Mrs. Mary Jordan Atkinson, author of a volume on Texas Indians which is soon to be released by the Naylor Publishing Company, writes. In delving into musty archives and ancient Spanish Government records in the University of Texas library, she has brought to light the fact that Texas has been under the flags of seven ruling nations instead of six as heretofore recorded in history. She has found that the Comanches who rose to control over a large part of what is now embraced in the area of this State had their own flag which was unfurled over the villages in their barbaric empire.

The Indians of Texas were sun worshipers. The glaring orb of day was an important factor in their lives. The theme of the sun runs through all of the Indian lore unearthed by Mrs. Atkinson.

"Christian missionaries from Mexico," she writes, "preceded by the banner of the cross—gold on white— and the mystic intaglio of the Virgin of Guadalupe, crossing the Texas wilderness, eager to introduce baptism in the sun temples beyond the Trinity River, found their path blocked by sun standards—buffalo skins, tanned as smoothe as parchment and emblazoned from edge to edge with holy sun rays.

"The Karankawa, house-boating on the coastal lagoons, gorging on alligators and carrion and human flesh, worshipped the sun.

"The Tonkewa, clad in a breechcloth, a feather, and a pair of moccasins, slipping over the chalkhills after the dear, worshipped the sun, and his women tatooed their breasts in its image for the sake of magic medicine. The civilized Mound Builder—the Caddo and the Asinai—living in straw houses said by astounding explorers to have been a hundred feet high, built temples in the piney woods to house the sacred fire—servant of the sun. Even the fierce Apache, foraging out of the Mexican mountains, struggling for control of the buffalo range, enemy of the Karankawa and the Tonkewa, of the Asinai and the Caddo—even he, worshipped the sun."

"Black Widow" Spider Refuses To Bite Elo

A "black widow" spider refused to bite Gene Elo of Amarillo, former editor of The Prairie, who tried Saturday to persuade the spider to attack him in order "to further the cause of science." Mr. Elo is a reporter on the Amarillo News-Globe.

The specimen used by Mr. Elo had the hour glass markings more plainly than most of such spiders, but the efforts of the Amarillo News reporter to provoke the spider proved fruitless. Mr. Elo expressed regret that the arachnid did not attack him, and believes that he would not have suffered any lasting ill effects from the bite.

Although the bite of the black widow spider is reported to cause death, U. S. Government reports say that only in rare cases and under unusual circumstances is death the result of the bite. These reports say that excruciating pain, accompanied by writhing, muscle spasms, and similar manifestations follow the bite of the spider. The spiders will bite only when they are in quest of food, says the report.

Mr. Elo, a W. T. S. T. C. graduate, served as editor of The Prairie during the winter session, 1932-33.

What is Advertising?

Perhaps you'll say: "You're asking me, eh?" No, no, a thousand times no! But we would like to ask you a question, that, if given proper thought, perhaps will help your advertising expenditures to appear more in the light of assets than liabilities—in other words profits from your printed sales message . . . .

Are Your Advertising Messages Reaching the Desired Clientele?

That's a pretty tough question to answer right off the bat; but when you stop to think of the circulation this medium offers, we believe we can help you solve this problem. This weekly paper circulates among the wage earners and producers of this trade territory and if your advertising is based upon such things as—

Who buys?
Why does he buy?
Who should buy?
Why should he buy?

Where does he live?
When does he buy?
How does he buy?
Where should he buy?

we believe we can supply you with the information that will convince you of the merits of this paper as an advertising medium. The newspaper is a welcomed visitor in the homes of the community. Call for a representative who will gladly explain our merits and answer your inquiries.

W. H. Upchurch and son, Louis, left Saturday for a short vacation trip to New Mexico.

18-Week Semester Will Be Resumed For Fall Session

Beginning with the fall term the college will be operated on the eighteen-week semester plan instead of the split-semester or nine-week plan in operation the last two years. This announcement is carried in the 1935-36 catalog just off the press.

The fall semester will open Sept. 17, 1935 and close Jan. 31, 1936. The second semester begins Feb. 3, and ends May 28, 1936.

Classes will be held six days a week with each class meeting on alternate days three times a week, Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, and Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday. The classes are one hour long with the first period beginning at 8 o'clock. One and one-half hours are given for lunch, from 12:00 to 1:30 o'clock.

No Increase in Tuition

The tuition for the regular semester is $35.00 or equivalent to $17.50 for two nine weeks terms, as in 1933-34 and 1934-35. Other expenses, such as room and board, are the same as last year.

The catalog shows that courses in the department of archaeology and paleontology, though not offered at the beginning of the fall term last year, will be offered in September of this year. Prof. C. S. Johnston is head of this department.

The department of commerce has been enlarged, now offering a major in commercial work, but has not affilated it with a commercial degree. The department is offering the student who wishes to teach commercial work in the high school the required number of hours for a major. Lee Johnson, manager of the College Book Store, has charge of the new subjects offered except No. 321, (Short Term Finance), taught by Prof. W. E. Lockhart. Course No. 301, (Insurance) will be offered the first term and followed by No. 312 (Investments).

New Education Courses

Four new courses in the department of education will be offered. Courses Nos. 111 and 112, nature study in the lower grades, are a seasonal study of the natural phenomena of environment, or season. Trees, flowers, dispersal of seeds, autumn insects, animals, weather and sky, forms of moisture and plains, valleys, hills, and canyons will be observed during the season the course is studied. Other new education courses are No. 471, an orientation course in problems of curriculum construction, and No. 472, technique of curriculum production.

Courses No. 421 and 422 in the department of government and economics are offered in the summer and by extension. No. 421 is contemporary economic problems dealing primarily with modern economic problems. No. 422 includes contemporary political problems with special attention of modern political problems and their relation to government structure and means of control.

Offer Drawing Course

In the department of industrial arts two courses, Nos. 241 and 242, are offered in engineering drawing. These courses provide for those majoring in industrial arts and for those who desire mechanical drawing and design for engineering courses. Courses Nos. 311 and 312 consist of unit shop experiences in the various phases of industrial arts which are included in a general shop course in the high schools of the state. This is a valuable course for all students interested in school administration.

To Study Spanish Verse

A course on Spanish and Spanish-American poetry and one on the Picaresque novel of Spain is to be offered in the fall in the modern languages department.

In the physical education department courses No. 161 (Boxing) and No. 171 (Wrestling) are offered for men, and course No. 241 (Community Recreation) is offered for both men and women.

During the following session Speech 211 will be offered. Also the new course, No. 131, that is to be offered the second six weeks will be offered this fall.

Course 131 is an auditorium course dealing with the principles, methods and practice of the minor techniques of speech in relation to the school subjects. Advanced courses in dramatic interpretation and play direction will be offered.

The other departments in the college will continue to give the same courses that were offered last year.

Modern 'Papooses' See World Fair

A purse is a very handy thing, as most women know. Now another use has evidently been found for one. From a comfortable perch in a giant handbag, a couple of tiny human beings gaze out at the wonders of the San Diego, Calif., exposition.

Wheat That Grows Without Soil Helps Professor Probe Nature's Secrets

A WHEAT crop is growing in California that flourishes, not in soil, but in a pool of water, just as pond lilies do.

And this particular "field" of golden grain is not subject to ravages of drouths and dust storms, but thrives under sunlight and atmospheric conditions regulated by the pulling of switches.

The crop in question is a tiny, experimental one, and its growth, in a tiny concrete room in his plant physiology laboratories, is superintended most carefully by Prof. R. A. Davis of the University of California.

His precious plants—just a few clusters of wheat in all—are "fed" with a teaspoon. When, whether morning or midnight, Dr. Davis wishes to bathe them in high-noon sunshine, he does so by switching on a battery of sun lamps surrounding the wheat.

These lamps can be turned on, or off, or used in any required number, to simulate any degree of sunlight. By means of other devices, moisture, heat, even air motion and wind conditions are provided in the desired degree.

PURPOSE of the experiment is to learn nature's secrets of plant growth, chemical composition, respiration, development, and response to every environmental condition.

By this means, the "breathing" of plants, and the questions of photosynthesis — the changing of water and air substances into carbohydrates under the influence of light—can be studied in fixed environment.

It is well known that, under the influence of light, plants give off oxygen and absorb carbon dioxide; and that in darkness the process is reversed. In every plant, says Professor Davis, the process is the same.

"How the sunlight and carbon dioxide combine to form sugar —how light energy is transmuted into sugar energy, and the metabolic process involved— these mysteries of nature long have been studied. Our wheat experiments may point the way to a clew."

ACCORDING to Professor Davis, the wide variance in climatic, soil, temperature, and other elemental conditions in various locations—and, in some localities, from year to year—has enabled Mother Nature to dodge any direct check-up on plant physiology.

In the laboratory experiment, sunlight is regulated as to hours, spectrum, and intensity. And Dr. Davis has a free hand in determining atmospheric conditions, temperature variations, wind velocity and duration, humidity and plant food content.

In regard to the latter, Professor Davis says, "Soil is not essential to plant growth, if the proper food is given to plants. Nature provides the right foods and anchorage for growth through the soil, but it is not essential to our experiments, so we have dispensed with it, to get perfect control."

But don't try to grow your own crops by the same method, unless you have the wealth of a Midas. According to Dr. Davis, a loaf of bread made from the wheat being raised experimentally would be worth somewhat more than its weight in gold!

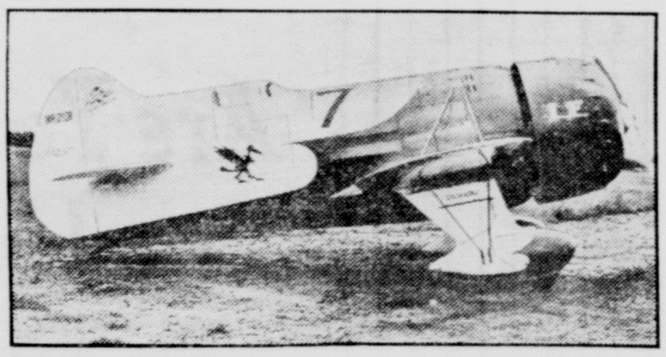
Ready for Assault on Air Records



In what its designers call the "world's fastest land plane," shown above, Cecil A. Allen, left, transpacific flyer, hopes to shatter all existing speed marks in forthcoming flights from Los Angeles. The snub-nosed plane, powered with a 1000 horsepower engine, was designed by Z. B. Granville. The wings measure 25 feet from tip to tip, and the plane is said to possess "the perfect streamline design." The craft has already been flown 321 miles an hour, Allen claims. He hopes to achieve the 350 mark.

district office will take care of several counties in this section, with a worker assigned to each county.

By order of the President, only boys and veterans who are now on relief rolls may enter CCC camps. This will no doubt limit the number of enrollees to a great extent. The order came in view of completely abolishing relief rolls at the quickest possible moment.

The county board has been advised that all projects which have not been completed must be resubmitted under WPA. In Randall county this will include the work on Buffalo Courts, widening highway 9, work on 8th street, Ceta crossing, and the road south of Umbarger. Widening of Fourth avenue through Canyon will likely be taken up as a new project, and completing the gymnasium in the ward building will be submitted by the school district.

Whether or not a city park will be submitted will be taken under advisement by the County Planning Board.

Those attending the meeting Monday night were District Supervisor G. E. Garrett, County Administrator H. S. Strain, Clyde Warwick, W. H. Stroud, Alfred Bellah and R. E. Ball, members of the county board.
